

2015 Two Moon Vineyard Dry Creek Valley Cabernet Sauvignon

Stan Simpson's remote "Two Moon Vineyard," while within the Dry Creek appellation, is located on a steep slope in the mountains far above and miles west of the valley floor. This vineyard sprawls across the McCray Ridge 1,800 feet high which gives it a moderate cooling influence from the Pacific Ocean. This vineyard is at times right within the fog line and starts off cool while warming as the day progresses. These factors create a wine that is more akin to a French Bordeaux rather than a Napa Cab.

Our 2015 is reminiscent of a cru classé Bordeaux due to the cooler growing season. This means it is not a big, rich, jammy style of Cabernet but rather restrained, elegant and focused more on earth, red fruit and cedar tones. It has a classic claret fragrance of plum, bell pepper and red currant and beet. The mild oak enhances the mouthfeel and offers moderate tannins on the finish. This is a wine that has a bit more acidity on the palate but you will be rewarded with some aging to soften the mouthfeel. Best from 2018+. 135 cases produced
